

A vibrant photograph of a Dublin street scene. In the foreground, a white metal bridge with ornate railings spans a river. Several people are walking across the bridge. Below the bridge, in the river, a group of people are in colorful inflatable rafts. The background is filled with a row of historic buildings in various colors (red, orange, yellow, blue) and architectural styles. A tall, dark stone church spire is visible in the distance. The sky is a soft, hazy blue.
