FASTEC

Supporting dynamic tech businesses

FASTEC: PROPERTY AND REAL ESTATE

You excel at pushing the boundaries of innovation; creating technology that will transform the property market.

You embrace disruption and change, but the real estate sector is struggling to align this with the more static, long-term nature of its assets. This dichotomy, together with the mountain of management issues that accompany your growth, challenges your success.

FasTec is our response; rapidly accessible, swiftly delivered expert legal advice for fast growing tech companies.

Our integrated team of technology, commercial, corporate and real estate lawyers can help you access your market and deal with many aspects of business management, leaving you free to focus on what matters to you. Our experience and range of perspectives helps inform the advice we can give you.

Our response

Our approach

As scaling businesses you need ready access to advice, without wasting time on protracted cost discussions. At the outset, we offer a free consultation to determine the support you need and then provide a menu of options and fees.

- At the heart of our support is a 50 strong national team of specialist technology lawyers who have experience of helping many expanding businesses in the sector.
- We draw in other legal experts - intellectual property, regulatory, financing, employment for example - depending on the support you require.
- Dedicated real estate lawyers are another part of our team; experts who advise developers and owners of offices, houses and shopping centres. Our in-depth understanding of user requirements can help you align your products and services to their needs.
